OUT ON THE LIMB with George Vierhus

GOING TO COURT is an expensive undertaking for all individuals.

Most of us try to avoid getting involved in judicial proceedings but the crowded court calendars clearly indicate that sooner or later most people have their day in court.

In most civil actions as far as private citizens are concerned, going to court is sort of the last resort after all other efforts to amicibly settle differences have been exhausted.

The City of Campbell now finds itself in a similar situation with respect to the proposed drive-in theater off Union Ave. and McGlincey Lane.

HAVING EXHAUSTED every means of protest available on an adminstrative basis, the City of Campbell has filed an injunction suit in the Superior Court to prevent the drive-in theater from being constructed on the Andrew Scorsur property.

The site picked for the theater is theoretically under county jurisdiction, inasmuch as it is outside the city limits of Campbell.

But it is within the sphere of this city for planning purposes and is virtually surrounded by the city.

In fact access to the proposed must be over property that is within the city limits.

CAMPBELL'S zoning prohibits a drive-in theater in that area, but county zoning allows a drive-in with a use permit.

County authorities, right down and up the line, from the Planning Commission to the supervisors, unmindful of Campbell's protests or of those of residents in the area approved the issuance of a use permit.

So Campbell has taken the issue to court.

DESPITE THE EXPENSE of the litigation by the city, we sincerely feel that the money will be well spent for there is more involved here than just a location of one drive-in theater.

County authorities must recognize that no longer is this a "cow county". Territory over which the county has jurisdiction is constantly shrinking while the cities have been expanding their boundaries.

Actions of county officials no longer can be isolated. They also affect some city in almost every case.

BUT the big thing that must be remembered is that there should not be any iron curtain between county and city jurisdictions. No border guards are necessary, for people within the city limits also pay the same general tax rate levied by the county.

We think it is about time that this dogmatic attitude of county officials changes.

Campbell may not win

Council to hold informal public hearing on Monday

What the City of Campbell's official recommendation will be on the proposed $112 million of the county expressway program will depend a great deal on the results of the informal public hearing scheduled for the next City Council meeting, Aug. 22, at 8:30 p.m.

The informal public hearing which will highlight the regular City Council meeting, has been scheduled to give the council a guideline for its recommendations to the County Transportation Committee on the proposed $112 million bond issue that is planned to be submitted to the electorate next February.

The background and the objectives of the program will be explained at the hearing by Councilman Bill Smeed, this city's representative on the county committee.

Bill Wren, Campbell city engineer, and a member of the technical sub-committee, will also present a review of the overall program.

PLANNERS

A recommendation of the Planning Commission is also expected and Don Kennedy, chairman of the Highway committee of the Chamber of Commerce, also scheduled to present the C. of C's viewpoint on the Phase II proposal at the hearing.

C. OF C.

According to Kennedy, the C. of C. feels that, if possible, the recommendation of the city should include a request to explore the possibility of opening Latimer and Rincon avenues, that were closed under Phase I of the expressway program. The C. of C. committee also feels that the possibility of pedestrian overpasses at Rincon or Latimer should be discussed and that east-west streets in the city should be improved under the Phase II program, if at all possible.

But Kennedy also emphasized that the Chamber of Commerce will cooperate in the fullest with any recommendation that the City Council makes as a result of the hearing.

BIG POINT

One of the points of most concern with respect to the Phase II program involves the so-called 70% guarantee feature for non-expressway cities.

These non-expressway city projects consist of arterial highway construction designed to support the expressway system. The policy was put in effect in Phase I mainly for the benefit of the smaller cities which did not have expressways within their city limits.

According to the official report, during Phase I, which was financed by a $70 million countywide bond issue in 1961, non-expressway projects comprised 6% of the program. It is estimated that if the 70% feature was continued in Phase II, non-expressway projects will constitute 16% of the total program.

A number of civic leaders have questioned this 70% formula and have suggested that Campbell might be better off becoming a "non-expressway city" for Phase II. By this policy, they submit, some of the east-west streets that tie in with the expressway could be improved.

PHASE II

The proposal for Phase II recommends that San Tomas Expressway will have two lanes added to it through Campbell; that the Hamilton-expressway interchange be built and that the expressway route be landscaped. It has been estimated that Campbell's share for these improvements.

City park board wants overpass

Members of the Parks and Recreation Commission have recommended to the City Council that an overhead pedestrian crossing at Rincon Ave. be included in the Phase II program of the county expressway program.

The commissioners emphasized in their recommendation that without an overhead access, it would be difficult for westside residents to use this city's only central park.

It was also specified that the overhead crossing would provide a safety factor for children attending schools on the eastside of the expressway.

Planners seek overpasses, off-ramp under proposed expressway program

Pedestrian overpasses should be constructed at both Rincon and Latimer avenues and an off-ramp off San Tomas Expressway for south-bound traffic built at Rincon Ave. from the proposed $112 million county expressway bond issue.

And the bond issue should be limited to expressway projects only.

Those were the recommendations made by the Planning Commission Monday night and will be submitted to the City Council at the informal public hearing next Monday night, Aug. 22 on Phase II of the county expressway system.

Phase II of the expressway program is proposed to be financed by a countywide bond issue of $112 million tentatively scheduled for next February.

Phase I of county expressway system, under which San Tomas Expressway was built through Campbell, will probably be completed by next year. Phase I was financed by a $70 million bond issue voted in 1961.

THREE ABSENT

The recommendations of the Planning Commission were made after a lengthy discussion on the part of the abbreviated commission. Three members, Hal Lee, Jack Healey and Ed Platt were absent.

Thayer Lyons presided in the absence of the chairman and vice-chairman.

The Planning Commission had been asked to make a recommendation on the proposed Phase II expressway program which in rough draft form had been drafted by the county public works department.

Under the funding policy that was instituted in Phase I, cities would receive 70% of bond money based on their assessed valuation, which is the base for their financial re-

CHINESE VISITOR--Bill Stobbe, Blackford High School senior, points out an article in The Campbell Press to American Field Service foreign exchange student, Ng Ser Miang, from Singapore.

School's AFS student arrives from Singapore

Ng Ser Miang, a 17 year old Chinese youth from Singapore, is having an experience many of us in suburbia would envy. He is the American Field Service Student for Blackford High School and for the next nine months will be able to form his own opinion of our country while a house guest of the Helmuth Stobbe family at 1101 Welch Ave.

The Stobbe's have three sons, including Bill who will attend Blackford High School with Miang, and Jeff and Mike, San Jose College students. Stobbe Sr., is Deputy Director of the Santa Clara County Welfare Department.

Miang, who is a diminutive 4 feet, 10 inches tall, is the son of a stationery merchant in Singapore. He has a number of older brothers, and a sister, all of whom attended Universities. Miang aspires to be a physician.

There is no communication problem with the youth, as he speaks excellent English. He also speaks several dialects of Chinese, as well as Malaysian, the government language.

Education plays a vital part in Singapore planning, he indicated, as more than fifty-four percent of the total population is under nineteen years of age. A large portion of the government revenue is being spent on the education of this youthful segment of the population. Schools are being built as rapidly as possible, but cannot keep pace with the exploding population. Schools and teachers are on double sessions. When Miang returns home, if he passes the Government examination, he will attend a university there.

Singapore has many fetes, fairs festivals and oozes with local color. Having been originally ruled by the Javanese, then by Great Britain, and later by Malaysia, they have many kinds of holiday celebrations. Now an independent government, they celebrated the first anniversary of their independence on April 9, 1966.

An excellent swimmer, Miang is looking

Expressway hearing

Next Monday, Aug. 22, the City Council is holding an informal public hearing on the proposed Phase II program for the county expressway system.

Campbell's City Council, as well as councils of all the cities, has been asked to review and make recommendations on Phase II to the County Transportation Policy Committee so that an ~~overall program~~ can be drafted. This will then be presented to the voters next February to be financed by a $112 million bond issue.

Phase I of the expressway program, which included the construction of San Tomas Expressway through town, was financed by a $70 million bond issue voted in 1961. This phase completed less than half of the ambitious countywide expressway system.

Many of you recall that the expressway agreement that was approved by the City Council for Phase I included the "dead-ending" of both Rincon and Latimer avenues at San Tomas Expressway.

However, it was not until construction had almost started that a local ground swell arose opposing the cutting off of Latimer and Rincon.

Despite the valiant but belated efforts of the City Council, the expressway plans could not be modified. So Latimer and Rincon dead-ended.

When the hue and cry was raised by residents and civic and business leaders about the closing off of the two streets, claims were made that the expressway plan had been approved by the City Council without proper exploration, examination or public exposure.

Yet the records show there were hearings held and the approval of the San Tomas Expressway plan was made at a public meeting.

The City Council does not want such an accusation to be made on Phase II, hence the informal public hearing next Monday, Aug. 22.

This city has learned the hard way.

Assuming that the $112 million bond issue is passed next February, at least three years elapse before any construction of any part of Phase II will begin.

This hearing next Monday is on the entire tentative expressway program as proposed. The City Council next Monday will not specifically approve an expressway plan for this city.

That will come much later.

But the point that is being emphasized is that now is the time for all of us to THINK about the program and how it will affect this community in the future.

The City Council very definitely wants to avoid another Latimer-Rincon fiasco. It sincerely wants the citizens of this community to be aware of the overall countywide expressway program which, after all, is being financed by the taxpayers.

There are many ramifications to this ambitious countywide expressway undertaking.

One of the Unique features is the formula developed for the so-called "non-expressway cities."

Obviously no expressway project, no matter how comprehensive and detailed it is, can touch every city in the county. Many cities are located where no expressway is needed.

But to pass a countywide bond issue the votes of these "non-expressway cities" are needed. These non-expressway burgs were given a big red apple. They are allowed to use for the improvement of certain of their own designated streets 70% of their "share" of the expressway bond issue.

Under the proposal that has been drafted for Phase II, although probably far different from what will be the finished product, Campbell, as an "expressway city", will have a $2,400,000" share of the bonds.

That is the estimated cost for adding two lanes to the present four for San Tomas Expressway, building the Hamilton-expressway interchange and landscaping the thoroughfare through town.

There are some who have questioned the advantages of being tabbed an "expressway city".

They point out that an expressway moves traffic THROUGH the city. Adding two more lanes and improving the intersection will just get traffic through our town that much faster.

They argue that, as far as the local citizens are concerned, it is more important for our own streets to be improved than to make things better for people of other communities to rush through our city.

We recognize that the countywide program must of necessity benefit the entire county. There is no place for a selfish attitude on the part of an individual city.

We are willing to go along with that.

BUT we maintain that this 70% "kickback" that has been provided for "non-expressway cities" has emphasized the selfish interests of cities to a great extent.

So, we are selfish, too.

this case in the court.

There are some powerful forces opposing this city and they will present a strong case.

But the decision by the court could very well lead to a solution of an intolerable situation that should not exist in the first place.

There are those who believe that, although Campbell lost the legal battle a number of years ago to prevent an improper annexation by San Jose, that litigation was partly responsible for the state legislation controlling annexations now in effect.

CAMPBELL is playing "for keeps' in this case.

And that is the way it should be.

Associated with City Attorney Joe Bonacina in the court battle will be Dick Morton, an outstanding San Jose attorney and a former mayor of Campbell.

To show that Campbell means business, the City Council, on Bonacina's recommendation, authorized Morton's association in the case.

And this meant shelling out dough at a pretty fair clip, for Dick's stipulated fee is about $40 per hour.

But fire has to be met with fire.

You can rest assured that the legal beagles on the other side will not be recruited from the bush leagues.

SHIRLEY HESS, vivacious circulation manager of The Press, for the past four years has done a bang-up job in handling the distribution of this paper and supervising the 40 boys who deliver it every Wednesday.

One of her problems, of course, as with all circulation managers, has been the recruiting of new boys for the various routes.

But Shirley apparently has taken steps to make her job of recruiting a little easier.

But it is a step that not just every circulation manager could utilize or is equipped for.

Here is the step:

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Hess, a boy, Richard John, on August 3, at the Good Samaritan Hospital.

Young Richard Hess, who has two sisters, may not be ready for a route for a few years but chances are he will get the hang of it at a fairly early age.

Shirley's experience with 40 boys should also be helpful in handling her young son.

As you might have guessed, the boy was delivered on a Wednesday, which is also delivery day for The Press.

NEWS CARRIERS DAY AT FAIR--The Santa Clara County Fair in cooperation with local newspapers will again sponsor News Carriers' Day to honor local news boys with their special day at the fair that will include contests, prizes, and special awards. Making plans for the event to be held Saturday, Aug. 27 are left to right, Don Minor of the Cupertino Currier, Joe Riggio of San Jose Parks and Recreation Dept. and Bill Bothman of the Campbell Press.

Miang will no doubt learn to sail while living with the Stobbe's, as sailing is their principal recreation, and they are very active in the San Jose Sailing Club.

The West Valley area, no doubt, looks very small to Miang, after living most of his life in cosmopolitan Singapore, which is known as "the crossroads of the world." It is not usual, according to the youth, to hear many different languages spoken in "Change Alley", the bargaining center where venders are selling their wares. Chinese, Indians, Malaysians and Europeans in native costume mingle in the Arcade.

The traffic in Singapore, according to Miang, goes to the left, and he is still crossing our streets with extreme caution. He has not yet learned to drive a car, as 17 is the minimum age for a driver's permit in his country.

In the meantime, the Stobbe's will try to learn to eat with chop sticks, for Miang has declared his intention to teach them. And Miang will try to become accustomed to mashed potatoes, which is a far cry from his favorite food, a bowl of rice.

Youth suffers burns in garage fire

Two families at 1745 and 1747 San Tomas Aquino Rd. were routed from their duplex homes last Friday morning when gasoline vapors were ignited by a water heater pilot light. The accident occured in the garage of the duplex at 1747 San Tomas Aquino.

A 16 year old boy, Charles Gorton, of Redding, suffered painful burns when fumes from gasoline he was pouring into the tank of a sports car apparently were ignited by the pilot light from the water heater.

The youth was visiting his sister, Mrs. Gloria Gore. Mrs. Gore shepherded her two young sons to safety when the flames spread. Mrs. Darla Jenkins, who occupied the other half of the duplex, lowered her young son to the ground from a rear bedroom window, and then climbed out herself.

The fire damaged the living room, dining room and kitchen of the Gore duplex, and caused smoke damage in both units. A sports car and foreign sedan belonging to the Gores were destroyed as was the Jenkins' 1965 sedan. Young Gorton was taken to Campbell Community Hospital with serious burns. Three pieces of equipment and 15 men of the San Jose Fire Department responded. Campbell Fire Department stood by for mutual aid, but were not needed.

Airport, Sacramento went on to win the division title and this week plays in the regional tournament in San Lorenzo, the last stop before the Little League world series in Williamsport, Pa. (Aug. 23-27).

Campbell won the division consolation title by defeating Hanford 11-1 on Saturday morning in Novato. Airport clobbered Petaluma for the crown 11-1 in the afternoon.

Mitch Vierra, who took the mound in the second, got three in four at the plate and only allowed two hits.

In the crucial contest last Thursday Campbell went ahead by one run in the first when Steve Davis scored on a wild pitch by Zack Venegas, Airport pitcher, who turned in two-hit performance and knocked in both his team's runs in the third by a single Kelley Davis and Bob Johns handled the pitching assignment for Campbell allowing only four hits. Ed Wehr was behind the plate.

W.V. Colt all-stars play in world series

West Valley Colt League all-stars, winners of the western regional title in Riverside last Sunday night, left Monday for Shawnee, Okla., to play in the Colt League world series. The series starts today (Wednesday).

To win the regional crown, the West Valley team defeated Riverside 1-0 when Ron Curnutt slammed a homerun in the seventh inning.

West Valley and Riverside tangled twice on Sunday. In the morning game Riverside had come out on top 6-0.

In the afternoon battle Rich Troedson was the winning pitcher, hurling a three-hitter and striking out eight. This was the second time Troedson had pitched a shut-out in the tournament play. West Valley defeated Downey previously behind his two-hit pitching.

The nightcap contest on Sunday was closely fought from the start. West Valley collected four hits in both games on Sunday while Riverside picked up five in the first tilt and three in the second.

Cornutt in the second game was the second runner to get past second base. Lou Gasper had singled and advanced to third in the fifth where he was stranded.

Cornutt and Roy Meisner turned in sparkling defensive plays by throwing out runners at home from their spots in the outfield.

In the first Sunday game, Vaughn Takaha hit a double but West Valley couldn't score. Actually Riverside's six runs were unearned and were made from eight walks and three errors. Five of the six Riverside runs were scored in the sixth inning.

The exhibit, utilizing a walk-through trailer brought in from Washington, D.C. primarily for the county fair will display the uses, advantages, operation and training involved with the Navy's nuclear power plants now in use on many Navy vessels. There will also be a recruiter available to answer any questions on Navy enlistments, Navy programs or military obligations.

Dog training classes here

James Crough, president of the Santa Clara Dog Training Club, issues an invitation to Campbell residents to watch the obedience training classes being held at the athletic field at West Valley College Tuesday evening, Aug. 23.

The training classes were formerly held at the Santa Clara County Fairgrounds. Dogs ranging in size from toys to Great Danes and from six months of age to ten years will go through their paces. The classes are held from 7 until 10 p.m.

Rotary Club sponsors own group study exchange program

Six young business and professional men will be selected by Rotary District #513, of which the Rotary Club of Campbell is a member, to participate in Group Study Exchange, an educational activity of the Rotary Foundation.

T. H. Ramsey is the local Chairman for the project which offers a unique two month person-to-person opportunity for the promotion of better understanding and friendly relations among people of the world.

The program provides travel grants for the exchange of young men between paired Rotary Districts in different countries.

The Campbell Rotary Club may propose two candidates who are not Rotarians or sons of Rotarians and who are between the ages of 22 and 30. A Group Study Exchange Award from the Rotary Foundation covers transportation of the six team members and the District Governor's Representative who acts as team leader.

Qualifications for applicants are personality, co-operation, enthusiam and impeccable personal conduct. Those chosen will be expected to give talks to Rotary Clubs and other organizations in person or via radio or television. In turn, the participants will visit governmental agencies and study the country's educational system. They will visit historical, cultural and scenic places and will observe first hand how problems of youth, the aged, the infirm and the indigent are met.

According to President Al Smith, the Campbell Rotary Club is now receiving applications, which must be in to the District Committee by August 22. Nominations may be made locally through T. H. Ramsey, Campbell Rotary Club, Grange Hall, Campbell Group Study Representative. The six young men selected will leave for New South Wales, Australia October 10 and return December 15.

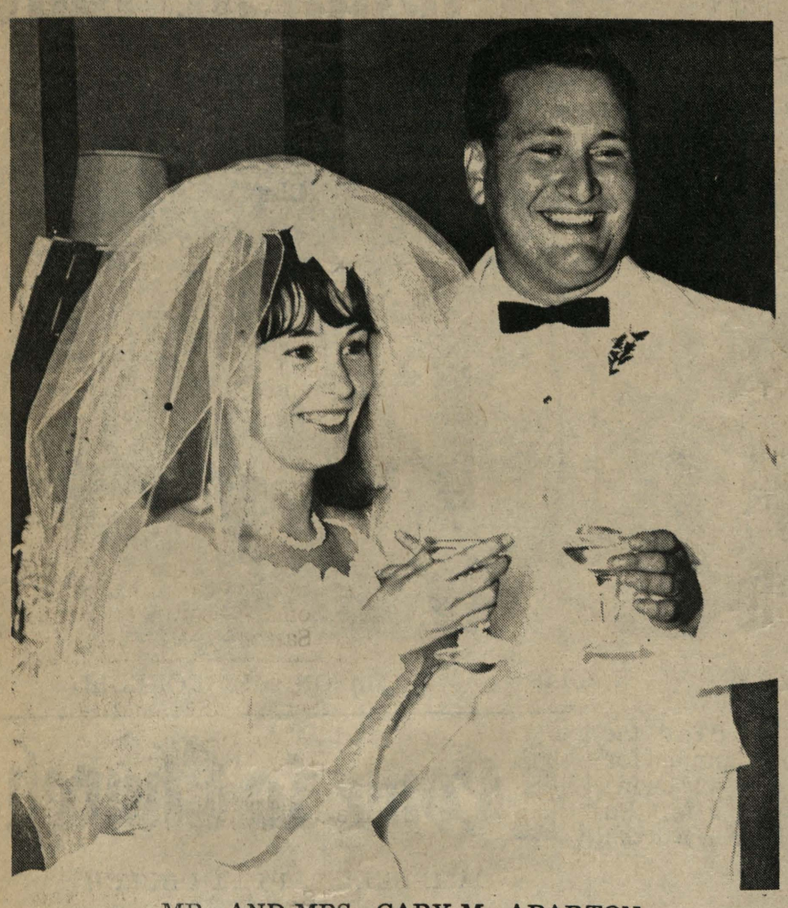
Aparton-Clay nuptials held at Church of the Valley



MR. AND MRS. GARY M. APARTON

Gary Martin Aparton bestowed his name on Miss June Patricia Clay at wedding ceremonies held at the Church of the Valley last month. Rev. Robert B. Thomas officiated at the double ring ceremony. June is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl A. Clay of San Jose and Mr. and Mrs. Larry Aparton of 1110 Sonuca Ave. in Campbell are the parents of the bridegroom.

For her wedding day, June wore a gown of silk organza and lace styled in a sheath line with full chapel train. Alencon lace trimmed the scoop neckline and long sleeves. Her elbow length veil was held by a headpiece of silk organza leaves accented with seed pearls and her bouquet was a cascade of stephanotis and orchids.

Mrs. Thomas Chatham served as the matron of honor and the bride's two sisters Deborah and Denise Clay were bridesmaids. All three members of the bridal party were attired in floor length gowns of turquoise georgette over taffeta and carried bouquets of long stemmed pink roses.

Dennis Dunlap of San Jose served as best man and ushers included Howard Jensen of San Jose and Mark Clay, the bride's brother, who arrived home from Viet Nam where he is stationed with the US Army.

A reception was held at the Los Gatos History Club. After a wedding trip to Carmel the couple established their first home in Santa Clara.

The bride was graduated from San Lorenzo High School and attended Cabrillo Junior College. She is employed by Certain-Teed Products, Inc. Gary was graduated from Cupertino High School and attended Foothill and West Valley College. He is employed by Crescent Auto Glass.

COFFEE BREAK--Junior Volunteers Cathie Fritz, center and Cathy Samuels, both of Campbell, join nurse Leona Avelino in a mid-morning coffee break at Los Gatos-Saratoga Community Hospital on Pollard Rd. The girls perform valuable community service at the 162-bed hospital. They are identified by their attractive yellow and white striped pinafores.

Social Side

Daughter of former local family weds in Livermore

Beverly Ann Fish, daughter of former Campbellites Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Franklin Fish, Sr. now living in Livermore, became the bride of Alan Bancroft Hall recently. The wedding took place at St. Michael's Church in Livermore, with Rev. Robert Adams officiating.

Escorted by her father, the bride was attired in a full length gown of white silk organza, with bouffant skirt, lace bodice and chapel train. Her veil was trimmed with lace and crowned with pearls and she carried her mother's bridal prayer book.

Her attendants were Miss Sharon Phelps of Livermore, maid of honor, Miss Maureen McQuaid of San Carlos and Miss Antoinette Cisneros of El Salvador, bridesmaids and classmates of the bride, and Joanne and Sharon Fish, junior bridesmaids and nieces of the bride.

All attendants were gowned in empire-style aqua peau de soie floor length frocks. Their headpieces of aqua net with matching bows were made for them by the bride and they carried bouquets of white mums.

Best man was Edison Guthrey of Sacremento, and ushering were the the bridegrooms's uncle, Thomas Corbett of Sacramento, and the bride's brother, Raymood Fish Jr., of Moraga.

A reception for approximately 125 guests was held at the bride's parents home. Following a wedding trip to Hawaii, the young couple is now making their home in Sacramento.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Hugh Knight of San Pedro. His grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Horace S. Corbett reside in Waialua, Oahu, Hawaii, and the newleyweds visited them on their honeymoon. Miss Alicia Knight, the bridegroom's stepsister officiated in charge of the guest book.

A graduate of Livermore High School, Alan is now a senior at Sacramento State College majoring in social welfare. He served in the US Navy for four years.

The new Mrs. Hall was graduated from Notre Dame High School in Belmont and attended the University of California, at Davis. She is the grand daughter of Mrs. Monica Parr, who formerly was in business here in Campbell with Mr. and Mrs. Fish as owners of the "What Not Gift Shop", currently known as Will Johns.

Teen-age girls perform needed community service

A group of more than 50 teen-age girls is providing valuable community service this summer at Community Hospital of Los Gatos and Saratoga.

While many of their contemporaries are spending their vacations in jobs for pay, members of the Junior Auxiliary, working in a year-round, seven-days-a-week program, make an especially valuable contribution serving as summer replacements for members of the Senior Auxiliary.

Working under the supervision of Mrs. William A. Wright, the Auxiliary's junior volunteer coordinator, and her assistant, Mrs. Richard Ralston, both of Saratoga, the volunteers perform varied duties in five areas of the Pollard Rd. hospital.

In their yellow and white pinafores, they are a welcome sight in the Pediatrics Department where they entertain and read to young patients, help with lunch trays and run errands for the nurses.

In Obstetrics, they man the coffee urn, kept going at all hours, refresh the flowers and escort patients to X-ray. They assist backstage in Central Supply, substitute week days at the gift shop and take over complete charge of the shop on weekends.

Volunteers are available to serve as runners at the information desk where they assist the senior auxiliary and deliver mail and flowers and help out at the admitting desk.

Organized in Nov. 1964, at the 162-bed non-profit hospital, with a membership of 14, the organization is now at top strength with 58 girls from nine high schools and three colleges, including Leigh, Los Gatos, Saratoga, Westmont and Campbell high schools, and West Valley and San Jose State colleges and the University of the Pacific.

Members must be between 16 and 19 years old, maintain a C-plus average scholastically and contribute a minimum of 52 hours of service a year.

President this year is Nancy Barr of San Jose while Gloria McGehee of Saratoga serves as secretary-historian.

PG&E build new generator

Pacific Gas and Electric Company will invest an estimated $3.2 million in construction of a fourth generating unit at The Geysers Power Plant, Shermer L. Sibley, president, has announced.

Sibley said design work is under way and the new generating unit is scheduled for service in December, 1968. Rated at 27,500 kilowatts, it will bring the plant's generating capacity to 81,000 kilowatts when it is in operation.

The two units now in operation at The Geysers produce 26,000 kilowatts. That figure will be more than doubled later this year when the new Unit 3, rated at 27,500 kilowatts, goes into operation.

ON CAPITOL HILL

with "Charlie" Gubser

In a recent speech to the House entitled "Our Crumbling Foreign Policy", I pointed out that the world map is a seething blot of communist inspired trouble and stands as convincing proof that dollar sign diplomacy has failed.

In 1917 10.1% of the world's population lived in 8,603,000 square miles of communist territory. In 1963, 34.99% lived in a communist world of 13,761,000 square miles.

In urging Congress to consider suggestions for correcting what is wrong, I first tried to assess what appear to be principal reasons for our lack of success. It seems our policy has not observed two axioms.

First, communism does not take firm root in an affluent society but only where human beings are oppressed, hungry, and in need. Second, the shifting of power toward the political left usually follows inertia and indifference on the right.

The sweatshop and exploitation of humans by the industrial barons of the 19th century paved the way for labor unions and the great control which they now exercise over national affairs.

The failure of organized medicine and private insurance companies to squarely face up to the fact that medical care for the aged was a serious problem finally led to Medicare; the failure of the auto industry to do something about safety led to the certainty of regulation by the Federal Government; the failure of the South to recognize the inevitability of integration led to the violent upheavals of the civil rights movement.

An understanding of this point is crucial to a critique of American foreign policy since we find many of these same forces operating in foreign affairs. For example, French colonialism and exploitation in Indochina gave communism its foothold. There human problems were ignored by the French until it was too late and communism had won.

History has not been kind to exploitation and indifference to human problems. All too often the change which follows is drastic and turbulent and the power structure shifts from one extreme to the other. When it does, the uneducated, the unpracticed, and those most susceptible to the promises of the communists are the ones who assume power.

To overcome our mistakes many changes must be made. But primarily we need to abandon the false premise that enough American dollars carelessly spread across the globe will buy peace.

Foreign aid must be completely overhauled. It should be concentrated upon "islands of freedom" in seas of communism, where the fruits of freedom would be clearly visible as they are in Berlin, Taiwan, and Japan, and people would crave a taste of the success they see at the center.

In each "island" human exploitation must be stopped as a condition for our aid and we must rigidly require that no recipient of our aid may "play both sides of the street".

As tools of foreign policy, money and force must become secondary to human considerations. As Milton wrote, "Who overcomes force, hath overcome but half his foe".

SOCIAL SECURITY

Questions and Answers

U.S. DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH, EDUCATION, AND WELFARE
SOCIAL SECURITY ADMINISTRATION

Q. - Is it true that a widow may now get social security benefits on her deceased husband's account at age 60?

A. - Yes. These benefits will be reduced from what she would have received at age 62. This is because benefits will be paid over a longer period of time.

Q. - I hear there are two plans under Medicare. What are they?

A. - The first is hospital insurance; the second, supplementary medical insurance. Hospital insurance offers help with hospital bills and other services; the supplementary medical insurance helps with doctor bills and other medical expenses.

Q. - Will social security tell me which doctors and hospitals I must go to in order for the insurance to pay?

A. - No, the Act specifically guarantees freedom of choice to the patient.

Q. - Will the health insurance pay for my drugs?

A. - The only drugs paid for under this plan would be the drugs you would be given while in a hospital or extended care facility.

Sacramento report

By Sen. Clark L. Bradley

With the summer vacation half over, candidates of both parties throughout the state are beginning to give some thought to their campaigns for the November General Election. Some are starting now, while others will wait until school has reopened thus making it possible for their workers to think in terms of coffee hours, addressing campaign literature and pushing doorbells.

Besides the interest which the people of California will have in the various candidates for office will be a series of Constitutional Amendments.

Only one of these will be on the ballot by reason of initiative petitions, and this is the proposition which is commonly called CLEAN and has as its purpose the objective of trying to amend the Constutution so that legislation may be introduced to curb pornographic literature which is becoming more and more a major problem in California.

Under the liberal political philosophy of our courts our present laws are practically helpless to stop the presses from pouring out the filth and unbelievably sadistic reading material that is presently available to both young people and adults. Twenty-five or thirty years ago there wouldn't have been a court in the country that would not have firmly curbed such publications; today it is hard to find a court in the country that will do any curbing.

To me it is essential that every effort be made to put a stop on these printing presses; it is impossible for me to believe that in so doing we are in any way impairing the constitutional protection of freedom of the press.

Twenty-five years ago no one had any qualms or fears that regulations of this kind would impair freedom of the press, and I know of no change in this country in the thinking of the public which should lead anyone to believe that there is any greater danger today to freedom of the press if these curbs are applied.

The only ones who say that there is more danger today are the advocates of liberal political philosophy. The publishers of this trash want to sell this type of material, and no doubt they have been quick to promote the idea that curbing these publications is an attack on freedom of the press.

COMMON SENSE

It is time, however, that the firm public demand for a return of common sense in the regulation and control of such publications be recognized by the liberals wherever they may be, and from the courts to the legislature on down.

I therefore urge a YES vote on Proposition 16, the initiative measure to redefine obscene material and hopefully thereby give the legislature the tools to stop this nefarious form of business.

CAMPBELL'S SHARE

Although Campbell's assessed valuation, according to the tabuation contained in the rough draft for Phase II, would only account for $1,520,000, the amount of money proposed to be expended on San Tomas Expressway in the future would total $2,400,000. This includes the Hamilton-expressway interchange, landscaping and adding two more lanes.

Under the same formula, cities without any expressways within their city limits would receive 70% of their bond share for improvement of streets within their city limits.

Commission members indicated that they felt this was a wrong approach to the financing of the program.

They maintained that the expressways were used by all residents of the county and thus all citizens should pay for them on an equal basis. The expressway bond issue should be used only for expressway purposes they maintained, and they disliked the "carrot" that was dangled for non-expressway cities just to get those cities' support.

Commissioner Frank Klein maintained that it was no advantage particularly for a city to have an expressway within its limits.

Dick Hogan, planning director, however, pointed out that there were some advantages including the fact that an expressway does eliminate the traffic that would otherwise be using city streets and that the expressway-freeway link has made Campbell a "hub" for the entire valley.

RECOMMENDS

The commission followed the recommendation of Hogan that a south-bound off-ramp at Rincon would improve the traffic flow because even at the present time the stacking lane at Campbell Ave. is overcrowded by those wishing to take off on Rincon via Virginia.

The commission also unanimously favored pedestrian overpasses at both Rincon and Latimer avenues. Both these streets are now dead-ended by the expressway and the pedestrian walkways would assist foot traffic to the schools they pointed out.

John Billmeyer, a member of the Parks and Recreation Commission, urged the Rincon Ave. overpass also because of the location of the undeveloped city-owned Rincon park which is now almost inaccesible to residents on the westside.

It was estimated that the cost for the overpasses and off-ramp would be about $180,000.

The commission added the Latimer overpass recommendation when it was pointed out by Commissioner Klein that closing off Latimer had also worked a hardship on residents on the westside getting to the high school.

Commissioner Kel Young who had advocated that the two additional lanes on the expressway were unnecessary and the money could be better used for city streets, went along with the commission recommendation when it was explained that very little would be gained for Campbell financially if the lanes were eliminated. More money was proposed to be spent in Campbell on the expressway than was called for under the 70% formula, it was explained.

based on the $112 million bond issue, will be $2,400,000.

1957 STUDY

The county expressway program was originally developed in 1957 when a transportation study of the county indicated that existing network of highways would not be able to handle the projected auto traffic and that the immediate solution was to construct more highways.

In 1961 the voters approved a $70 million bond issue for the first phase of the estimated $203 million expressway network of 105 miles that was recommended.

By April of this year a total of $57 million has been invested in the expressway system and at the end of last year there had been 35 construction starts throughout the county.

However, records show that the original traffic survey had been too conservative because of the phenomenal growth of the county which naturally had increased the number of vehicles in the county.

MORE CARS

The original survey estimated that by 1966 there would be 475,000 vehicles registered in the county. Records show that approximately 560,000 vehicles are now roaming the streets in this county.

City officials explain that, although the proposed $112 million expressway program concerns the entire county, the public hearing on next Monday will concentrate for the most part on the improvements for San Tomas Expressway that have been suggested.

Interested citizens and representatives of various civic organizations have been urged to attend the informal hearing to make their desires known.

Many claimed that the original expressway agreement that was adopted which closed off Latimer and Rincon was not given the proper airings.

The current City Council has taken steps to see that such an accusation cannot be levied about Phase II.

ROTARY PRESIDENT --Albert Smith, former member of the Campbell High faculty and now president of Orchard Home Supply of San Jose which was founded by his father is the new president of Campbell Rotary Club. He succeeds Doug Fitzgerald who served as club president last year and was "debunked" on July 1.

Planners approve zoning changes

Although recommendations for the expressway program highlighted the Planning Commission meeting Monday, the commission members prior to embarking on the expressway problems in short order gave architectural approval to five plans and also approved four zone changes and a variance.

Three of the plans approved were for signs for business firms submitted by Ad Art, Inc. These included, "Freddie's", at San Tomas and Campbell applied for by Fred Schallich; Aero Drugs, at 2075 Winchester Blvd., and for Blendwell Interiors, at 155 E. Campbell Ave.

Building plans were also approved for a "Jack-in-the-Box" drive-in restuarant at 1450 W. Campbell Ave. and for an educational facility for the Campbell Baptist Church at 163 Sunnyside.

Three of the zone changes approved were for properties that are being annexed to the city. These included: White Oaks Annexation, 1966-3, (at Camden and White Oaks) approved for M-1-S zoning; Pollard-San Tomas annexation 1966-5, at Pollard Road and Burrows and extending to Estrellita Way and Audrey Ave. approved for R-1 zoning (R-3 zoning had previously been denied); McGlincey Annexation 1966-6 (property now owned by Maclyn Morris adjacent to the proposed drive-in theater off Union Ave.) approved for R-3 zoning for a mobile trailer park.

It was explained in this case that should the drive-in theater be constructed, another zone change might be necessary to M-1-S because a theater would be detrimental to the type of mobilehome park planned for the area.

Another zone change approved was for property owned by Joe Dahl adjacent to the Campbell Methodist Church on Winchester. The zone change approved was to C-2-S to be in line with zoning of property north of it.

The commission also granted a variance for the Leep Development Co., to allow for a 18-foot setback for driveways instead of 25-feet because, through no fault of the developer a mistake had occurred in the street width measurement when the railroad tracks had been moved.

In a non-agenda item, the commission approved the acquisition of property at 124 W. Latimer by the high school district.
